To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to lodge a formal objection to the proposed change of the political party name from "Carbone Network" to "Frank Carbone Western Sydney Community" as advertised in the notice published on [Friday 5th July] in the newspaper.

Grounds for Objection:

1. Misleading or Confusing Name:

The proposed name "Frank Carbone Western Sydney Community" may mislead or confuse voters into thinking that it represents a broad community group or public organisation rather than a political party. The use of "Community" in the name could imply non-partisan civic representation which is not reflective of its political nature.

2. Similarity to Existing Names:

The proposed name may cause confusion due to its similarity to existing community organisations or local government entities that serve Western Sydney. This can lead to an unfair advantage or misrepresentation in the eyes of the public.

3. Public Interest:

The name change does not serve the public interest as it may falsely convey an affiliation or endorsement by community groups that is not factual, potentially affecting the integrity of the electoral process.

I believe these grounds provide sufficient reason for the AEC to reject the proposed name change. I request that my objection be taken into consideration during the evaluation process.

Please acknowledge receipt of this objection and inform me of any further steps required.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Peter [REDACTED]
