Dear Jenni McMullan;

"The augmented Electoral Commission is the body which will make the final determination of the boundaries and names of the electoral divisions. It comprises the Chairperson of the Australian Electoral Commission (the Hon. Peter Heerey QC), the Electoral Commissioner (Mr Ed Killesteyn), the Australian Statistician (Mr Brian Pink), the Australian Electoral Officer for Victoria (Mrs Jenni McMullan), the Surveyor-General of Victoria (Mr John Tulloch) and the Auditor-General of Victoria (Mr Des Pearson)" www.aec.gov.au that was update on 24 September 2010.

Trusting the body of the augmented Electoral Commission my humble advice is for the augmented Electoral Commission to sent each residence (a form to put their say) regarding whether they want to be part of Caldwell or McEwen.

Having lived at Craigieburn since early 90s, Craigieburn has been part of Caldwell's outer boundaries a "city living country style" with increasing growth of multiculturalism therefore Craigieburn should not be split into two but be kept as one belonging to Caldwell or to McEwen. Please remember that a suburban living should be kept as one within a constitution to develop harmony and cooperation not be broken up within the same living arena. We are one Craigieburn and we have some form of a semi-country living but very much of a city living style.

On one side of Craigieburn, we have the Hume Highway and on the other side we have a major Bridgewater Road leading to RoxburgPark then to Meadow Heights and Broadmeadows. At the back of Craigieburn (we are still one Craigieburn) we have Mickleham Road that opens up to Mount Macedon and to the Hume as well. Craigieburn is unique and is at the boundary country living and city style so do not split us up.

Many of us as residences busy seeking employments, working hard in-terms of keeping our employment, paying bills and trying to live our lives after paying taxes so please listen to our voices in when deciding about Electoral Commission's divisions.

With kind regards,

Varaja Karagiannidis
