SUBMISSION TO AEC ELECTORAL REDISTRIBUTION REVIEW RE PROPOSED SEAT OF COX

2nd May 2018

I wish to object to the proposed renaming of the seat of Corangamite to Cox.

Corangamite has Australian historical significance as a ‘Federation Seat’ having been in existence since the federation of our nation on January 1st 1901.

It is an indigenous name that pays respect to the original custodians of our nation, meaning ‘bitter or salty.’

There are very few federal electorate names that honour both our indigenous history and the federation of our nation and for this reason I urge the AEC to retain the name of Corangamite for the seat.
