As a business we have been pleased that we are allocated to the Corangamite Electorate. With the proposed changes we would move to the Cox Electorate.

But as a business located in the Colac Otway Shire, the proposed boundary changes to the Corangamite Electorate is disappointing on its potential impact on the overall viability of our local council to source funding.

1. Where is the major town for the new electorate?
2. Where would the member have their offices?
3. What public transport options are available to the public to access their minister?

We are concerned for the vast distance and demographics that both Cox and Wannon will have.
