This is a formal submission in regards to the ALP proposal in regards to the Somerset Council and in relation to their proposals on the electorates of Blair and Maranoa. The ALPs suggestion to move the Somerset Council from Blair to Maranoa to extend the states largest seat into an even larger one is a clear partisan attempt at a Gerrymander. The Somerset Valley currently sitting in the seat of Blair held marginally by the ALP is a heavy conservative voting anchor that keeps the seat competitive and Labor's attempt to move it into a seat that votes heavily for the coalition already that they would never have a chance of winning. This is an attempt to make their marginal seat safe while having no net effect on any seats competitiveness due to Maranoa already overwhelmingly voting for the Coalition. Moving it to Maranoa would be a blow to democracy and fairness and would be a clear benefit to Labor.
